

The country's largest advertising agency for nurses!

Sykepleien is one of Norway's largest specialist magazines, which has a fantastic position in health Norway and reaches more and more people outside the core target group. Our readers have a large network of contacts through their work with people and are often asked for advice. Privately, nurses make many decisions about purchasing, according to surveys. This, as well as the magazine's stable readership, makes the magazine well suited to building a brand for products within the subject and all other products/services.

The nursing paper edition goes in-depth on one topic in each edition and has a circulation of around 119,000. There are five editions a year. Each page is read an average of 323,000 times according to Kantar TNS (1/2020).

Sykepleien.no covers daily health news, as well as specialist and research articles as well as weekly debate posts and opinions. We also publish peer-reviewed research articles. Almost 100,000 follow Sykepleien on Facebook. We publish two newsletters a week to approximately 130,000.
