

The country's largest advertising agency for nurses!

Sykepleien is one of Norway's largest specialist magazines, which has a fantastic position in health Norway and reaches more and more people outside the core target group. Our readers have a large network of contacts through their work with people and are often asked for advice. Privately, nurses make many decisions about purchasing, according to surveys. This, as well as the magazine's stable readership, makes the magazine well suited to building a brand for products within the subject and all other products/services.

The nursing paper edition goes in-depth on one topic in each edition and has a circulation of around 122,000. There are five editions a year. 211,000 readers an average issue of the magazine Sykepleien. Source: Kantar Media Fagpressen 2023

Sykepleien.no covers daily health news, as well as specialist and research articles as well as weekly debate posts and opinions. We also publish peer-reviewed research articles. Almost 100,000 follow Sykepleien on Facebook. We publish three newsletters a week to approximately 130,000.
